Murray was cut by the bride and groom of twenty-five years ago. Visitors were from Rosalind, Sedgewick and Viking. Lovely gifts were received including silver articles from Scotland. Mrs. Murray wore a two-piece blue silk dress with a pale mauve gladioli corsage. In the evening about thirty-five friends from the Batts district and Kinsella held a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray. A purse of silver was presented to the guests of honor by Mr. J. McKie to which Mr. Murray suitably replied. Scottish songs sung by Mr. A. Brown and Mr. T. Campbell were much enjoyed. Lunch was served by the ladies, a feature of which was an anniversary cake made and decorated by Mrs. B. Armitage and Miss Betty Armitage. A very pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and "Auld Lang Syne."

SAME OLD TUNE—As a French prisoner-repatriate fans away the hot air, right, a Viet Minh band serenades him with sweet music intended to make prisoners at the exchange point of Vietri, Indo-China, believe in the bamboo-woven "Peace" (Pax) sign overhead. The French high command say the Viet Minh play a different tune in regard to exchange of prisoners, and have delivered less than half of the promised 9,000 French Union forces they agreed to return.

SEES THE KITTY—Born apparently blind, 17-month-old Vivian Mae Raftery learns what a cat looks like, after being fitted with special, all-plastic glasses. Daughter of Major and Mrs. B. Q. Whipsnakes are clumsy and awkward on the ground, but they are very much at home in trees.

WHILE THE BROSOM is not thoroughly de-emphasized in this new Digby Morton gown, it takes second place to hip interest achieved by intricate draping. Made of gold lame and gray silk tulle, the dress looks best when worn with the "debutante slouch" of the 1920's.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

Holiday from happiness

By RUTH K. KENT

EVERYONE waits happiness. I thought I had a corner on it the day I married George Hayden. I loved him more than is sensible, and he returned every bit of it with gentle interest. We had everything in common and loved being together. And Mother Hayden practically clinched it when she said, "George, we must see that Lola is very happy."

Those were no idle words. The first thing she did was to sell her home and moved into an apartment across the street. "Now I'll be near if you need me," she said. I did need her, too. Not to help George make me happy, as she seemed to mean, but to advise me with cooking and household details. I became very fond of her.

That was until George had offered a summer job as a research chemist up at the Square Deal mine. I went up to the mountains with him the day he looked over the situation. We looked at the living quarters . . . a few shacks along the river, with plenty to offer in the way of scenery but nothing in conveniences. I could see that George was a little unhappy about it, that he was hesitating about the job that he wanted so badly on account of the living conditions for me. So I put my hand over his and said, "It won't matter, honey. You'll be there, won't you?"

He knew what I meant, so he accepted the position. When we got home we went right over to tell Mother Hayden, "Why, George, gie," she gasped, "Surely you aren't going to ask this girl to live in a place like that?" George looked puzzled, but I said, "I'm going to like it. You can't imagine the gorgeous scenery."

"Scenery," she sniffed. "That's just like you, my dear. Sweet and sacrificing. But I promised I'd see that George makes you happy, and I'll certainly do it."

"Be gosh, mother," George started. "She took the reins, 'Lola can stay right here and I'll look after her.' I guess you can stand to be separated four months. 'Absence makes the heart grow fonder,'" she smiled.

There was no use arguing, but I jumped all over George the minute we got home. I'm not staying here. I'm going very young. "Burying himself in his newspaper, he shook his head, 'Mother is right. That's no place to take a woman.'"

I got into bed, muffled my sobs. I pretended to be sleeping when George came to bed. We'd never quarrelled before and I knew everything in me was dying. It was obvious he didn't want me and I pretended sleep when he got up. But he shook me gently. "I've decided I may as well pack and go today. The longer I wait the harder it will be."

"I don't see when you go," George took me in his arms. "Mother will look after you, honey. Or I wouldn't leave you. Mother's right. I have no right to take you there."

I had to be satisfied with that. All next week his mother was kindness itself to me. But her sweat, prying interest wore me down. I sat through a movie three times rather than go home.

One morning she came over with a couple of suitcases. "I've sort of neglected you, my dear," she went to the guest room, "So I am going to move right in here while George is away. Then you won't have to go out so much to cover your loneliness."

I watched her hang clothes in the closet. "I won't stay here," I said. "I'm going up to George." I intended to say it aloud, but the words didn't come. I flounced into my room and started packing.

"I'm going over for some more clothes," Mother Hayden called.

I called back, "You shouldn't carry those heavy bags."

Her voice was always cheerful. "I like doing things for myself."

I went on folding dresses. She could live here alone this summer, she'd enjoy a house for a change. I felt I was doing her a favor by moving out. I didn't know how George was going to take it but I just had to go. Just making the decision made me feel better and I started singing.

Then I heard the thump. I heard Mother Hayden calling. "Lola . . . Lola . . ."

"I ran to the door and saw her lying at the bottom of the steps. She gasped, 'I did something to my leg. Don't move it.'"

The doctor came right away. "Her ankle is broken," he said. "I'll have to put it into a cast."

She looked horrified. "I'll have to stay in bed?"

He nodded. "For a little while. We'll take you to the hospital."

"She started to cry. 'I can't bear hospitals.'"

I felt sick and funny inside. If I had offered to carry the suitcases for her this wouldn't have happened. I couldn't help thinking how good she'd been to me. And I couldn't help thinking, now she's going to the hospital, I can go to George.

She clutched my hand. "Lola, hospitals make me sick."

I said, "You can stay right here. Then I thought, what am I saying? I want to go up to George, not stay here and be a nurse. But I looked at her tears. 'I'll take care of you, mother.'"

She wiped her eyes. "I'll stay here if you'll let me, but I won't let you wait on me. George would never forgive me."

"George has nothing to say about it," I said. "He went off and left me, didn't he?"

"Because I told him to," she said.

I stared at her. Then I said, "I'm not a very good mother, so I'll get a practical nurse to look after you. That suit you like?"

She nodded. "That will be fine. I'd be a burden to you."

"You won't be," I grinned. "The nurse will have to use my room so I'll go up and live with George, where I belong."

She frowned. "I guess you're right. But, my dear, you'll never be happy in that terrible place."

George met the bus after I wired him, and said the same thing. "Honey, it's been rugged without you but you'll never be happy here."

I clung to him. "I don't want to be happy," I cried. "I just want to be with you."

Steady rise in Canada's population

Canada's population is more than eight percent higher than the 1951 census figure and now is well over 15,000,000. At June 1 the population was estimated by the bureau of statistics at 15,195,000. This was a 414,000 gain over the previous year, 1,195,000 over the 1951 census figure and 3,123,000 over June 1, 1945.

Ontario's population passed the 5,000,000 mark for the first time, passing the nine provinces that showed increases. Prince Edward Island recorded the only decline, falling to 105,000 from 106,000 the previous year.

By provinces the increases were: Ontario up 149,000 to 5,046,000; Quebec up 119,000 to 4,388,000; Alberta up 37,000 to 1,089,000; British Columbia up 34,000 to 1,266,000; Manitoba up 19,000 to 828,000; Saskatchewan up 17,000 to 878,000; New Brunswick up 11,000 to 547,000; Nova Scotia up 10,000 to 673,000; and Newfoundland up 15,000 to 298,000.

In the territories the Yukon recorded a rise of 1,000 to 10,000 and the Northwest Territories a similar increase to 17,000.

The population estimates "are made by adding births and immigrant arrivals to the census total and deducting deaths and an estimate of emigration. The birth rate has been rising and the death rate falling while more people have been coming to Canada since the Second World War than have left."

Funny and Otherwise

"Now let's talk about you, shall we?" said the pretty film star.

"All right, dear."

"Well, then, what does a young man like you see in a girl like me?"

"Prisoner—'The judge sent me here for the rest of my life.'"

"Prisoner—'You can call me a rest.'"

"The way it sounds, a lot of people with bad coughs do not go to the doctor—they go to the theatre."

A farmer, tired of being single, went to town, chose a wife, married her, put her on the back of his horse and started home.

Suddenly the horse stumbled. "That's one," said the farmer, and went on his way. The horse stumbled again. "That's two," said the farmer. The third time the horse stumbled the farmer said, "That's three times," he and his bride dismounted, and he took his rifle and shot the animal.

"Whatever possessed you to do that?" the bride asked; and she thereupon began a long-winded tirade about the farmer's stupidity. He listened for several minutes, looked steadily at his wife and remarked, quietly, "That's one."

"Can I borrow your pen, Bob?"

"Certainly."

"Got a sheet of writing-paper I can use?"

"Yes. Help yourself."

"Going past the post-office when you go out?"

"I can."

"Wait a minute till I finish this letter, will you?"

"All right."

"Want to lend me a stamp?"

"Don't mind."

"By the way, what's your girl friend's address?"

"What would you do if a lion came after you at 60 miles an hour?"

"Seventy."

The North Star is sometimes called the Polar.

"I HEAR JM BRINGS HIS WIFE TO DINNER."

"YEP AND THEY'RE SCRAPING ABOUT IT ALREADY."

"SHE AGREED TO PAY FOR ANY DAMAGES TO THE CAR."

"NOW THEY HAVE TWO CRUMPLED FENDERS AND A SHAMMED GRILL, AND BUT SHE REFUSES TO PAY."

"YES, BUT JIM WAS DOING THE DYING WHEN IT HAPPENED!"

Rusted crops have no toxic effect on livestock

Rusted grain crops have been used extensively in the past as a winter feed, according to R. E. McKenzie, director of the plant industry branch of the Saskatchewan department of agriculture. Mr. McKenzie stated that inquiries being received by the department about the advisability of cutting rusted grain crops for feed. This action is being considered by livestock farmers in areas where the rust infection is heavy, and there is some concern about a possible poisonous effect of rust on farm animals.

"Investigation and experience," he said, "have shown that there is no toxic effect of rust on livestock, but that palatability is reduced. The difference in feeding value of rusted and non-rusted straw is very small, but some analyses have shown that rusted straw has a slightly higher feeding value."

"It should be recognized that straw at its best is a low quality feed, and should not be depended upon as the only source of roughage. However, where rust is so bad that it nearly destroys a grain crop some value can be salvaged by cutting it for winter feed," he said.

"Where the crop is heavily rusted livestock may not always eat the feed readily due to the excessive dust," he added.

Blacksmith at 89 still going strong

STONEWALL, MAN.—They're as durable as any anvil, these village blacksmiths.

Steve Fell of Stonewall has been blacksmithing for 74 of his 89 years. But ask him about retiring and he says: "Not for me. I may be a little tired but I like to work."

Fifty-eight years ago, when he started his business in this village 50 miles north of Winnipeg, there was competition to worry about, but not any more.

"The machinery fellows tried to put us out of business," he says. "There were six blacksmiths in town when I started. Somehow I managed to last out."

Since he settled in Stonewall the only time Mr. Fell has been away from his anvil was a brief spell in 1934 when he got kicked while shoeing a horse.

"I was only in hospital three weeks," he says. "I was wonderful vitality."

Mr. Fell in his youth did plenty of travelling in following his trade. "Now I never even go to Winnipeg. There are too many cars. I'm liable to get run over. I used to walk to the city often during the horse and buggy days."

Sport Shorts

(From The Viking News)

Overshadowing all other sports this week will be the world's baseball series between the Cleveland Indians, champions of the American League, and the New York Giants, champions of the National League. The Indians are rated stronger in the pitching department than the Giants, while the Giants have an edge in the fielding and batting. The Indians are favored in the betting odds, but we'll string along with the Giants to win the series.

We note in the Vermilion Standard that the Tigers have reorganized for the hockey season and prospects are good for a real contender on the ice lanes. They are losing Johnny St. Martin and Gerry Patsula who topped the league in scoring last season, but have a couple of dark horses in the barn to take their place. The meeting made a suggestion that the existing rule outlawing the paying of players be enforced. Haven't heard a peep from the other three teams in the Eastern Alberta League so far, Wainwright, Vegreville and Viking.

The talk in fistic circles this week is the 2nd set-to between Earl Walls, Canadian heavyweight champ, and Edgardo Romero, giant champ of Argentina, being staged in the Edmonton Gardens come Friday. Romero holds a decision over Walls and Walls intends to even the score. Gazing in the crystal ball we see Walls on the canvas.

ARE YOU FIRE CONSCIOUS?

Are you fire conscious? If you aren't you should be. Fire prevention week in Irma is October 3 to 9, during which time everyone should observe with the greatest respect, the hazards of fire. Fire is a hazard of man that should be observed not only during Fire Prevention Week, but at all times.

Too often, when we think of fire, a picture is conjured up in our minds of a house in flames. We do not stop to think of how that fire was started, or how it could have been prevented.

Fires do not just happen. In all cases there has been a reason as to how that fire started. In most cases it is the cause of carelessness. A lighted cigarette thrown away after being used, a discarded live cigarette butt, improper use of gasoline and cleaning fluids, are only a few causes of fire due to plain carelessness.

Other causes of fire are neglect. Failing to check up on electric wiring, neglecting to use precautionary methods in installing heating units, letting rubbish accumulate in basement and storerooms, are all causes of fire that could have been avoided if they were not neglected.

These are only some of the many causes of the fires that destroy our homes. Look about you. Try and discover in your homes where a fire could start, and if there is a possibility of that happening, then by all means go about remedying that cause. Be fire conscious and you will be able to spot the potentialities of fire that much easier.

I THOUGHT IT WAS A DEER

A red cap sits at a jaunty angle on his head. A rifle shining with newness is gripped tightly in his hands. His eyes peer up the well-worn game trail. A dry twig cracks sharply in front. Leaves move as if something were passing through the trees. He whips his weapon to his shoulder, aims quickly and fires. A body thumps into the dry leaves carpeting the forest floor. A human body—that of his hunting companion. The hunter thought it was a deer.

There is no need to elaborate on the genuine remorse this hunter must have felt over the accident. But it is hardly believable how such accidents could happen. Men are not only taken for deer, but recent reports show that they've been mistaken for squirrels, partridges, raccoons, moose and fox.

Then there are other hunters who handle guns so carelessly they not only endanger the lives of those around them, but their own. Such a theme is expressed in a 20-minute 1 millimetre motion picture film available from Canadian Industries (1954) Ltd. This production "stars" Trigger Happy Harry who is the epitome of the man who does everything wrong with a rifle. His antics serve as a convincing lesson to hunters who are in the "sound shot" class or whose impatience impells them to let loose at the slightest movement in the bush. The film is well worth seeing.

Our constitution has given every Canadian the right to own a rifle or shot gun without the benefit of permit or registration. Let us not usurp this right by making murder weapons of them. Make absolutely certain you know what you're shooting at this coming hunting season before you squeeze the trigger. Statistics show hunting is still one of the safest sports. Let's keep it that way. —Ex.

"DIG DEEP, SCOTTY, IF YOU WANT TO FIND IT"

Digging a hole in the ground is a simple job for Scotty, and he does it for fun. The men who dig for your natural gas are not digging for fun. Their purpose is to make sure you have a constant supply of this all-purpose fuel.

In some parts of the world, they, like "Scotty", have to dig deep. In other parts, they don't have to go as far down for gas. Naturally, the depth they have to go for gas, the availability of gas and the costs of the goods and services involved in delivering the gas to your home affects the size of your gas bill.

It is the aim of your gas company to keep total costs at a minimum through efficient management. The result has been that Albertans enjoy fuel rates that are among the lowest on the continent.

"Naturally, natural gas is one of our cheapest fuels. It's worth every cent you pay for it, and then some."

Just Like 'Milk'!

Two drained glasses and three smiling faces show the success of new "milk" products to be used in feeding needy children by the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). The three young samplers were part of a jury of six American children which tasted and judged soybean "milk," fish flour rolls, and reconstituted powdered milk with UNICEF playing the anxious host at a recent exhibit of the Fund's world-wide activities. The new foods are inexpensive to produce and high in protein content. UNICEF-equipped drying plants are already turning out the new milk in Yugoslavia, with similar plans underway for Indonesia, a non-dairy country.

EDMONTON REPORT

By Donald F. Smith

EDMONTON—Despite an increase of more than $8,000,000 in the value of livestock marketed in Alberta in the first six months of this year it was not nearly enough to make up for what the farmer lost in income from the sale of field products as compared with last year, reports the provincial statistician in his review of the second quarter of economic activity in Alberta.

The restricted purchasing power of the farmer as a result of the grain quotas, he believes, is one of the chief reasons for a slight decline in the province's economy as compared with that of the first quarter. Linked with the farmer's plight is the poor spring weather which adversely affected the building trades.

Detailed figures place the farmers' returns on wheat between August 1, 1953 and June 30, 1954, at $115,000,000, compared with $152,432,000 during the corresponding period a year ago. To the end of June this year, 100,877,000 bushels of wheat had been marketed by Alberta farmers, compared with 117,255,000 to the end of June, 1953.

Decreased marketings also are noted this year for oats, barley and rye, with only a slight increase in flax seed.

An estimated $34,770,445 was paid for cattle in the first six months of this year, compared with $33,444,654 in the corresponding period of 1953. The total net livestock marketings to the end of June, 1954, are placed at 246,054 head, compared with 200,771 head last year.

Other livestock totals with last year's figures for the six-month period in brackets are: calves 42,720 head (35,250), $2,205,451 ($2,133,817); sheep and lambs, 60,338 (49,923) $1,196,456 ($1,015,850); and hogs, 736,972 head (783,305), $39,891,730, ($33,417,938).

The provincial statistician's figures show that the Alberta cattle seller was in a little better position in June than in some of the previous months of the year, when prices were considerably lower than for the corresponding period of last year.

During June the price paid for good steers was $18.79 a hundred at Calgary, same as in June 1953, $18.32 at Edmonton, compared with $18.01 last year, and $18.63 at Lethbridge compared with $18.11. But the six-month average was $17.54 at Calgary, compared with $19.82; $16.95 at Edmonton compared with $19.12 and $17.60 at Lethbridge compared with $18.63.

Hog prices averaged better for the six months this year than last. At Edmonton the price averaged $33.70 this year, compared with $26.64 last year; at Calgary, $32.99, compared with $26.74, and at Lethbridge, $32.79 compared with $26.46.

The cash income of the Alberta dairyman increased during the first five months of this year by virtue of his having sold more of his products—especially butterfat for creamery butter, milk for cheese-making and milk for fluid sales.

The total cash income from January to the end of May was estimated at $10,314,000 compared with $9,961,000 in the corresponding period of 1953.

Dairy producers sold 8,061,000 pounds of butterfat for creamery butter, compared with 7,809,000 pounds in 1953 and their income rose from $4,534,000 to $4,738,000 in this period. Sales of milk for cheese totalled 11,979,000 pounds, compared with 9,989,000 pounds in 1953 and the income was $279,000 compared with $230,000.

Milk for fluid sales rose from 80,341,000 pounds and $3,440,000 for the first five months of 1953, to 85,061,000 pounds and $3,852,000 this year.

Decreases in sales of milk for concentration, ice cream and fluid cream were noted—50,618,000 pounds as against 54,737,000 pounds last year, while dairy butter continued its decrease—28,000 pounds as against 39,000 in 1953.

Cash income from eggs dropped from $3,580,410 to $2,917,529 for the first six months, while poultry marketing income dropped from $433,213 to $377,491.

Wedding Bells

PEDERSON — HINTZ
Rev. Norman Knight united in marriage Miss Jacqueline Faye Hintz and Mr. Louis Albert Pederson in a very pretty ceremony at the Viking United Church on Saturday, September 4 at 11 a.m.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hintz of Viking and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leif Pederson of Kinsella.

Coming down the aisle with the groom, the bride looked very pretty in a cocktail length gown of Chantilly lace over satin. The bodice was styled with a lace bolero with lily point sleeves and buttons up the front. She wore a fingertip veil of nylon net. Her only jewellery was a three-strand pearl necklace, a gift of the groom, and she carried red roses arranged in a cascade bouquet.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Margaret McArthur. Her yellow cocktail length gown was nylon net over taffeta with a lace bolero. She wore a yellow hair bandeau and carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Clifford Overbo was best man.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Knight played the wedding music.

HARMONY HARBOUR

Atlantic waves rolling in on a Nova Scotia beach, followed by the Eileen Cameron poem which opens "We give you ships and tides and men, Anchors Aweigh and wind-filled sails; We give you back the sea again in sailor's song and rousing tale..."—these sounds have introduced "Harmony Harbour" to listeners of the CBC Trans-Canada network for some years now. On the regular Sunday show, soon to begin its eighth season, tales of the sea are told, giving listeners an insight to the great days of Canadian maritime history; sea shanties varying in sentiment from roll-licking pirate songs to sailor's vesper hymns are also offered, featuring the Arcadian Male Quartet (above). The program originates from the heart of Canada's eastern seaboard, at Halifax.

attendants was held at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Knight proposed a toast to the bride and the groom responded appropriately.

For a honeymoon to Vancouver and the Western States, the bride donned a navy blue suit with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Pederson will make their home at Viking.

WORTHY CAUSE

Boy Scout financial campaign launched by lieut. - governor

An opportunity to contribute to a worthy cause is being given Saskatchewan residents with the launching this week of the Boy Scout financial campaign, designed to provide funds to aid the Boy Scout Association in its work. Mr. J. S. Ink of Regina is chairman of the drive.

The campaign in all communities where there are Boy Scout groups is dated for September 20 to 25, but donations to the cause are not limited within these dates. They can be made up to the end of the month or later.

Wherever there is a local Scout group, this group will be spearheading the local campaign. But the many thousands of Saskatchewan people who are not reached in this way and who want to support the Boy Scout Financial Campaign financially, can do so by sending their donations to: The Boy Scout Association, 104 Gordon Building, Regina, Sask. No contribution too small or too large say the sponsors.

Canada's Boy Scouts and Cubs of today are this country's leaders of tomorrow.

BOY SCOUTS

MERIT YOUR HELP

Give Generously to the Campaign in Your Community or send your donation to: Boy Scout Association, 104 Gordon Bldg., Regina, Sask.

The Scout organization is one of the best known, and most capable, for teaching self-reliance and leadership to young boys.

Membership of Boy Scouts, Cubs and Leaders in Saskatchewan totals more than 65,000. There are 172 Scout groups sponsoring Scouting in this province, and there are 121 Scout troops, 142 Cub packs and four Rover crews in operation.

Funds from the campaign now under way will help defray expenses of Leader training, new Scout group organization and maintenance of the provincial field office.

The Lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan officially launched the campaign over the radio network. Lending vocal support also will be Premier T. C. Douglas, Bishop Coleman, Archbishop O'Neill, Father Murray and others.

Scouting is fun and adventure for your boy and other boys. Scouting is training and character building for all boys. Support the Boy Scouts' financial campaign in your community, or direct to the Regina headquarters.

Home Workshop

Repairing chairs offers a generous reward to anyone who likes to tinker with tools. Second hand stores often have a good assortment of solid frames that need only to be re-upholstered and re-finished to make them like new, such as the modern piece above. And what household does not have a chair or a couch with one or more springs that need only to be re-tied to make the chair as serviceable as when new? Pattern 312 gives illustrated directions for re-webbing and re-tying springs; cutting upholstery fabrics and the stitching processes. Pattern 312 gives illustrated directions for re-webbing and re-tying springs; cutting upholstery fabrics and the stitching processes. Ask for pattern 312 and enclose 35c with name and address.

These decoys are made by sawing out pieces traced from a pattern. Then the pieces are glued with water-proof glue and the solid piece is shaped and smoothed with a rasp. The next and last step is to follow the painting directions on the pattern to produce a realistic effect that will not only fool other ducks but other hunters. The heads may be turned in different ways for naturalness. A caution to you hunters: use extra care when you make a few decoys for wives who want to use them for lamp bases and other decorative purposes. The pattern for making these decoys is No. 404 which is 35c per copy. This number is included in the Sportsman's Pack of five full size patterns for $1.50 postpaid. Address order to: Department P.P.L., Home Workshop Pattern Service, 4433 West Fifth Avenue, Vancouver, B.C.

BEGINS TRAINING AS FLYING NURSE

CHILLIWACK, B.C. — Vicki Swanson, 18-year-old Chilliwack girl, determined to be a flying nurse, has been granted her pilot's license and has begun three years training at St. Paul's Hospital. Then she will spend one year in the University of B.C. to get a public health degree. Altogether, she spent 30 hours in the air—12 dual and 18 solo—to get her license. "It was loads of fun," she said. Her father, a pilot since 1947, who took her up for the first time, said he thought Vicki was possibly the only girl in Canada who learned to fly before learning to drive a car. "She didn't even know what a choke was," he said.

PEGGY

Courageous Toronto girl started to swim at age nine

A summer in the city, instead of at the usual country vacation spot, gave Marilyn Bell, an unathletic nine-year-old, her start towards aquatic fame. The little girl who at 16 years of age became the first person ever to swim Lake Ontario, was consoled for her stay-at-home holiday by a second ticket to Oakwood swimming pool.

It was an unconscious investment in a great future by Mr. and Mrs. Syd Bell. Both non-swimmers, they didn't dream their tot's splash in the little pool would mount to a tidal wave of swimming achievement.

The trim high school student has built up some mighty swimming muscles in her eight years of training, but it was hardly show when she is in the water.

Marilyn is a pretty, blue-eyed blonde, five feet and one-inch tall, with a friendly, pleasant personality and not much time for boys. She weighs 119 pounds, has a few freckles and a beautiful golden tan. She plays badminton during the winter and on Sundays sings in the church choir.

Swimming Lake Ontario was the second marathon for Marilyn this summer. The first was a 25-mile effort in July off Atlantic City, in swirling ocean tides.

She was the seventh swimmer to finish in that race—but she was the first girl, and in the fans' estimation, the outstanding performer of the day.

They had lined the course and cheered her along in her 10-hour grudge. Only courage, training and terrific determination and plumb pulled her through, said her coach, Gun Ryder.

Yes, plumb. The food of infants nourishes powerful long-distance swimmers who can't leave the water to eat. It is easily digestible, and along with such food as corn

Will film life in Metis colony

PRINCE ALBERT. — Life in a Northern Saskatchewan Metis colony will be the subject of a forthcoming documentary sequence to be filmed by the National Film Board.

This was announced here recently by provincial resources department officials, who said the sequence would constitute part of a documentary series on Canadian life produced for Odeon theatres across Canada by the NFB entitled "Eve's Witness". The Metis colony sequence of the documentary, which will be seen by theatre-goers early next year, will illustrate various aspects of the province's Metis rehabilitation program, recognized as the most advanced in Canada. Victor F. Valentine, the provincial resources department's anthropologist, will act as consultant for the NFB unit filming the sequence.

The official said the NFB felt a film on the Metis would be of particular interest to Canadians, generally, since the Metis played an important role in the country's early development.

TOUGH INSECTS

EDMONTON. — Jokes about the size of mosquitoes in the north may not be too exaggerated, says F. L. R. J. Goodley of the RCAF agricultural school here. He told a meeting he would rather spend weeks in 50 below zero weather than be exposed to the "summer insect plague of the Northwest Territories."

A lesson from the British Empire and Commonwealth Games

One of the big lessons which can be learned from the recent British Empire and Commonwealth Games is that hard work pays off. This was demonstrated quite vividly every time an English middle distance runner stepped on to the track to compete.

The physical capacity needed for developed by hard work. However, this hard work must be of the right variety, proper rest periods and conducted with a thorough understanding of how the body operates. When the athlete is physically educated, he develops confidence. The athlete anxious to develop full endurance and power must be willing to forego the idea that hard work will "burn him out"; he must learn the knack of effort; he must learn to move through the mental block of thinking he is through when he feels tired.

It is important to remember the toughest opponent an athlete has to beat is himself. He must constantly be aware of the traps his mind sets for him and how easy it is to find a reason to let up and postpone the big effort. He must learn to be honest and not to justify or shift his failures, because each time this happens it is easier to let up the next time.

This principle of training can be applied to all sports. So to work today and apply it to your sport.

Place it — don't drop it

Most football kickers make the bad mistake of dropping the ball toward the ground and then kicking it. You must place the ball on your foot as if you were going to grip it secure, hold the ball waist high and then place it on your foot with the front end of the ball turned slightly to the left.

When holding the ball keep your left arm straight, and your right arm bent at the elbow. Release the ball on the ball by your left hand as you start to let the ball go but keep your right hand on it as a support until you actually kick it.

"Fitness is easy"

According to Dr. T. K. Cureton, director of the Physical Fitness Laboratory at the University of Illinois, many of the ill which attack the average middle-age man would not occur if a proper schedule of exercise, rest, and diet were followed.

The latest information in the field of medical research has revealed that the human body actually degenerates through a lack of use. For further information on this subject enquire about one of the latest Sports College Publications "Fitness is Easy".

And present-day conditions create new difficulties, as families are "not often together" as they once were.

But the ideal, implicit in Christian faith and teaching, and in the close association of "home" and church in the days of early Christianity, still remains. Unusual performance can only be

Kitchen Meditations

By JANE DALE

PRIVILEGED
We would not touch the blossoms which in another's garden grow; We would not twist the blossoms about. Nor push them to and fro.

We would not pick the flowers Another person tends with care; Though we admire their beauty We leave them growing there.

Yet the wind with gentle motion May touch each treasured flower And set them all a-swinging Through every sunlit hour.

The wind may pluck a flower From a garden anywhere Unmindful of the owner Or of his endless care.

The wind in wrathful fury Cares not which way it goes. It scatters far the petals Of the daisy or the rose.

It may bend the heavy blossoms, Or snap off a slender stalk, And leave a trail of brightness Across a garden walk.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Over 15 years ago a United States inventor originated an automobile that could run forward, backward and sideways. The way always seemed the solution to tough parking problems. However, motorists didn't go for this car because of a fear that the mechanism might get out of order and cause the car to go sideways while speeding forward on a highway.

How to slow down a dog

Gambling on greyhound races is legal on and off the course in Great Britain. In Britain there is no income tax on money acquired by gambling. Consequently the temptation to wager there is very great. The temptation is also great to go in for a bit of skulduggery in the way of fixing races. Do you know how many greyhound races are fixed? The odds in these races usually consist of six dogs. The fixers arrange to slow down the dogs likely to be the first three choices and then they bet on the fourth. It is not necessary to dope a greyhound to slow the animal down. All that is necessary is to feed him a hard-boiled egg a little before the race.

She didn't marry

"I have never married," writes a feminine subscriber. "Never wanted to. I enjoy my liberty too much. I am never bored. I have fun. I have put a 'Mrs.' in front of my name and purchased a wedding ring. This is to stop other women from constantly asking me why I am not married. I pose as a divorcee. A very gay divorcee. Too many women are driven too quickly into marriage because they can not bear to have other women ask them why they are not married and referring to them as old maids."

Music hall comedienne

Who introduced that lively ditty titled "A Little of What You Fancy Does You Good"? The answer is, of course, Marie Lloyd, the most popular British music hall comedienne of all time. Marie's real name was Matilda Alice Victoria Wood. Was one of 11 children. Had three brothers and seven sisters. Married three times. One of her husbands was Bernard Dillion, celebrated jockey, who rode the Epsom Derby winner, Lambeg, in 1910. Marie Lloyd, a successful entertainer for 36 years, was generous to a fault and is believed to have given away at least a half a million dollars to needy friends. She died at 52 in 1922. Over 200,000 people attended her funeral!

Export

That "export or die" thought remains firmly rooted in the minds of the British. Now they are even exporting houses. Yes, sir, you can have a lunguage made to order in Britain and shipped C.O.D. to just about any place in the world. Will be a completely equipped dwelling which can be erected and made ready to move into in two days or less. Don't know the tariff situation on imported houses, but do know British construction workers are paid about one-third those similarly engaged in Canada or the U.S. Suppose Japan starts building and exporting houses. Japanese building construction workers are paid less than $1 a day!

Ideal family

What is the ideal family as to make up and numbers? It was once considered to be father, mother, father, son and daughter. Now it appears the family of six has become the most desirable. That is, mother, father, two boys and two girls. This, however, is a rare type of family. It seldom works out that way. If there are four children they will

Fire Prevention Week OCTOBER 3 to 9

and Prevent Fires EVERY WEEK of the Year!

Next week, special work will be undertaken by the Provincial Fire Commissioner and by all Fire Departments throughout Alberta, to renew preparedness against loss of life and material resources from the ravages of fire.

As a service to your community, firemen are in search of these killers. Last year 54 people died in Alberta from fire. Most lives sacrificed to fire are traced to these dangerous conditions.

GUARD AGAINST THESE KILLERS

- Kerosene or gasoline misused to light fires.
- Gasoline handled in open containers or glass containers.
- Home dry cleaning with gasoline and flammable solvents.
- Careless parents leaving children alone at home.
- Careless smoking habits - smoking in bed.
- Overheated stoves and smoke pipes in dwellings.
- Allowing rubbish to pile up in basement or attic.
